

K-LOVE, a translator station serving Eastern Washington brings positive, encouraging broadcasting to our community and the surrounding rural areas. My family and I listen to it whenever we turn on the radio. I believe there are others in our community who also benefit from this station and wouldn't want to see it displaced by another low power FM station.